

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A scanner system having an image scanner and a control device for controlling the image scanner. The control device has a scanner driver installed thereinto. The operator can carry out entering for setting a reading size and a direction of an original on the operation screen of the scanner driver. The control device designates a reading area of the original based on the inputs of the reading size and the direction of the original and outputs a scanning execution instruction to the image scanner.